

Agile Team LINKS™

Leadership Insight Nimbleness and Knowledge Seminar

SEMINAR FOCUS

LINKS is a unique leadership development program that integrates best practices of golf and leadership development. The program is built upon a foundation of self-discovery through multiple forms of assessment and is focused on the immediate transfer of the leadership discovery from the golf experience to the work setting.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND A LEADER LINKS PROGRAM?

The LINKS program is aimed at leaders with five to 10 years of experience managing people and/or projects. We have a staff of seasoned consultants and golf professionals committed to working with all types and levels of leaders. You do not need to know how to play golf to attend this program.

HOW IS LEADER LINKS CONDUCTED?

LINKS blends golf skills with leadership agility best practices. The two to three day program moves between a classroom setting and the golf course to introduce situations requiring immediate responses to changing conditions

LEADER LINKS OUTCOMES

- Initiate leadership agility behavioral changes that have immediate and long-term individual, organizational and shareholder value.
- Assess who and where they are as agile leaders and benchmark themselves against others at the same professional level.
- Enrich leadership agility skills by participating in a business simulation while playing a round of golf.
- Develop a plan of action that encompasses both golf and leadership agility goals.
- Broaden their network of leadership colleagues.

UNIQUE FEATURES OF LEADERS LINKS

- Each participant will be contacted by his/her individual executive coach, Dr. Nick Horney, who establishes contact prior to the program and also conducts a follow-up coaching session after the program.
- Each participant receives intensive personalized feedback from colleagues in the program and may select to participate in a supplemental 360-degree feedback from supervisors, peers and direct reports.
- Each day participants take part in a leadership agility action-learning module focusing on turbulence in the business environment and how they as leaders create or improve the culture of responsiveness and adaptability.
- Each participant observes and may receive a thorough swing analysis with an emphasis on how golf and leadership coaches effectively use a similar process called the OODA Loop.
